THE WASHINGTON CRITIC, Washington, D. C.

RICHARD H. SYLVESTER, - - Editor

THE CRITIC is for cale in New York by rentance & Co., Union Square.

WASHINGTON, MAY 27, 1887.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL GARLAND, ex-Governor Hondly and Senator Morgan are all out of the way as candidates forthe Supreme Court vacancy, but there seems to be no danger of a shortage. Ex-Speaker Carlisle, Judge Pettus of Alabama, ex-Congressman Hammond of Georgia, Senator Gibson and Thomas J. Semmes of Louislana, W. C. Ballin-ger and Judge Willie of Texas, J. Randolph Tucker of Virginia, Judge Howell E. Jackson of Tennessee, Sec-retary Bayard, Samuel W. Williams and U. M. Rose of Arkansas and many others are still in the field, or yet to be heard from.

The action of the New York State Senate in refusing to confirm the nom-ination of Colonel Fred Grant as Quarantine Commissioner and that of Gen-eral Dan Sickles as Emigration Commissioner, may have been good pollits in its narrowest partisan scarse, but it will not be so construed by the Grand Army of the Republic. Whatever mistakes Governor libit may have otherwise made, he is all right so far as this portion of his record is concerned.

MR. PARNELL is getting broadsides from every direction. According to the London Times he was in sympathy with the Phoenix Park murderers. Now the Dublin Espress charges our ideal Home Ruler with cruelty to his Avondale tenants. He is faring worse at the hands of the newspapers than even an American candidate for the Presidency. It wouldn't surprise us to hear next that Mr. Gladstone was addicted to bank burglary.

THERE was an immense crowd at the Pyrorama last night. Barnum's show in its palmiest days never saw a bigger or a better, or a more enthusiastic one What is more, everybody was delighted; and everybody who hasn't seen this splendid spectacle should make it a point to go to-night. Perhaps another opportunity may never offer to witness a grand naval engagement so vividly reproduced.

THE terrible conflagration in New The territic configration in New York this morning, by which so many horses came to an agonizing death, is urgently suggestive of reforms in stable building for the better protection of animals and their easier rescue in case of fire. It is a subject upon which the S. P. C. A might enjoyer with profit. of fire. It is a subject upon which the S. P. C. A. might enlarge with profit.

Tun burning of the Opera Comique at Paris proves to have been attended with a much greater loss of life than a most appalling catastrophes of a simi-lar character that have ever occurred.
